Fields of Mud, Seeds of Hope

During this season of Remembrance, Ripon Cathedral has been exhibiting a remarkable artwork: Fields of Mud - Seeds of Hope, by Yorkshire artist Dan Metcalfe.

The sculpture, which is 9m long by 3m wide, uses drying mud to depict five battle weary silhouettes returning home from the front.

As the mud dries it changes colour, gradually cracks and, over a period of weeks, slowly reveals the silhouettes.

Dan explained, "We have used mud – something very familiar to so many World War I soldiers and deeply symbolic of struggle and sacrifice - and sought to form it into an artwork that looks to the future and has hope at its core." The mud Dan has used has come from the site of Ripon's WWI military hospital and the Memorial Museum Passchendaele 1917 in Belgium.

Deep within it millions of ungerminated poppy seeds lie dormant. When decommissioned, segments of the sculpture comprising of the dried earth and seeds will be made available to the public to create their own artworks or memorial gardens; with the profits used to support various charities dealing with the effects of conflict. There are just a few days left to visit this remarkable exhibit. The instillation runs until Wednesday 14th November.

The Collect for Remembrance Sunday

Almighty Father, whose will is to restore all things in your beloved Son, the King of all: govern the hearts and minds of those in authority, and bring the families of the nations, divided and torn apart by the ravages of sin, to be subject to his just and gentle rule; who is alive and reigns with you, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever.

God, our refuge and strength, bring near the day when wars shall cease and poverty and pain shall end, that earth may know the peace of heaven through Jesus Christ our Lord.
